DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, 4, and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reddick patent, U.S. Patent No. 4,894,053 in view of Clay, U.S. Patent No. 6,413,499. The Reddick patent, U.S. Patent No. 4,894,053 shows in figure 2 a hollow elongated body member having a first end and a second end; said first end (16/30) being open and including a seat internally located therein and a channel having a pointed end extending upwardly from the seat; a sprayer head (32) secured to the second end (34) for dispensing medicine having a plurality of apertures (42). Reddick does not specifically disclose the infusion of anesthetic medicine. However, the use of a sprayer to infuse anesthetic medicine is conventional in the art as evidenced by the teachings of Clay, U.S. Patent No. 6,413,499. Clay shows in figures 6 and 7, the use of sprayers to infuse anesthesia into a patient. Accordingly, based on the teachings of Clay, modifying the "fluid infusion substance" disclosed by Reddick with an anesthetic, as taught by Clay, would have been considered obvious in view of the conventionality of such use. Additionally, it would have been a modification that is "obvious to try" since the cited patents would have provided a person of ordinary skill in the art the ability to choose from a finite number of identified predictable solutions to infuse anesthetic into the body with a reasonable expectation of success.

In relation to claim 3, Reddick shows in figure 2, a sprayer head (32) having a rear wall, side walls, and a front wall, the rear wall is flat and the side walls extend upwardly from the outer edges of the rear wall with the front wall coupling the side walls.

In relation to claim 4, Reddick shows in figure 2 a plurality of apertures (42) that extend through the front wall; and in relation to claim 5, figure 2 also illustrates apertures that extend through the sidewall.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
